

September 13, 2016

Identity

Values: are principles about how people should act. Values are also standards for what we consider important and just (right).

Identity: is how we are shaped by the places we live, the languages we speak, the groups we belong to, where we came from, and how we see ourselves.

Collective Identity: a shared belief system that often includes the same language, culture, values, and attitudes.

